I can identify possessive pronouns within sentences.

LessonID: 231

Possessive pronouns show ownership. They show one thing being owned by another. In each sentence below, circle the possessive pronoun. The first has been done for you.

Those pens are mine.

"Is it his?" asked the boy.

The ball is yours.

medal is yours but last year it was mine.

The winning

It turned out it was hers all along.

"It's theirs!" shouted the boy.

It's easy to confuse possessive pronouns with possessive determiners. Look at the example below.

his is a possessive determiner. It doesn't replace the noun (pens). It comes before the noun.

Those are his pens.

Those pens are his.

his is a possessive pronoun. It replaces the noun (pens).

In each sentence below, circle any possessive pronouns and underline any possessive determiners.

These are your pens but those are mine.

This is his pen but that is my pen.

This toy is mine but that toy is hers.

This pen is hers buy it used to be yours.

His bike is broken but mine is working well.

"This money is ours!" demanded Ben.

Write your own new sentence that correctly uses 'his' as a possessive pronoun then as a possessive determiner.

'his'	as a possessive
	pronoun

'his'	as a possessive
	determiner
